

FUTURE MUSOS LEARN FROM INDUSTRY VETERANS

Tuesday, 20 November 2018, 10:03

Knysna has a lot of undiscovered talent and this workshop has brought these youths face to face with the industry they want to enter.

KNYSNA NEWS - On 16 November the Department of Cultural Affairs and Sport (DCAS) in collaboration with the Knysna Municipality held a Songwriting Competition which, on 17 November, was followed by a workshop presented and facilitated by music industry professionals.

On 16 November many hopeful musicians, composers and artists from all over the Greater Knysna area gathered at the Rheenendal Community Centre, just outside Knysna, for the much anticipated auditions.

The day was filled by many performances from singing to rapping to music beats being played for the auditioning phase of the event. Knysna truly displayed a great reservoir of talent waiting to be discovered.

The artists who showed commitment and drive were selected and invited to attend the industry-centred workshop the following day.

The workshop was presented by various music industry professionals. Martin Myers, founder & CEO of Music Exchange NPC and co-owner of Triple M Entertainment; Selwyn Bartlett, Good Hope FM on air personality and director & principal consultant of Selcorp Media &

For more information, click the link below:

<https://www.knysnapletherald.com/News/Article/LifeStyle/future-musos-learn-from-industry-veterans-201811200925>